

Your long-term care home is participating in the Evaluating Long Term Care Homes' IntraVenous Therapy Experience (LIVE STUDY)

What is the LIVE Study?

Your health care team is testing a new service being provided in long-term care homes to better treat urinary tract and lung infections.

In some cases, this service will allow residents to receive antibiotics, and if needed Intravenous (IV) therapy, within their long-term home, rather than in hospital.

This service will provide better care in the right place – your long-term care home!
